

MA Program in Data Analytics and Applied Social Research

The internship program offers graduate students the opportunity to gain work experience and course credits by working in a public agency or private business. All students in the MA program can intern in a variety of public agencies or private businesses. They can receive coursework credit, by registering for SOC789.1 (1 credit) or SOC789.3 (3 credits), for monetary compensation, or for both credit and compensation. The MA program offers a modest stipend for a limited number of internships.

Participating in an internship and registering for the internship coursework requires the completion of an internship form and approval by the MA Program Director.

Internship Requirements:

1. A minimum graduate GPA of 3.2
2. Minimum coursework required depending on the internship tasks
3. 8-10 hours of field work for the duration of the semester required for SOC789.3
4. 3-5 hours of field work for the duration of the semester required for SOC789.1
5. Submission of an Internship Application Form to MA Program Director
6. A supervisor's evaluation of your performance at the end of the internship
7. Short report submitted to the MA program Director at the end of the internship

A final grade will be calculated on the basis of supervisor's evaluation and internship report. A maximum of 6 credits can be derived from internship placements or a combination of internship, teaching assistantships, independent study.
